THE LETTER.

Words and Music by S. LOVER.

Fare thee well love, now thou art go - ing
Over the wild and trackless sea, Smooth be its waves and fair the wind blow - ing, Tho' 'tis to bear thee far from me :
But when on the waste of o - cean, Some happy home - bound bark you see, Swear by the truth of thy heart's de - vo - tion, To send a let - ter back to me.

Think of the shore thou'st left behind thee,
Even when reaching a brighter strand ;
Let not the golden glories blind thee,
Of that gorgeous Indian land ;
Send me not its diamond treasures,
Nor pearls from the depth of its sunny sea,
But tell me of all thy woes and pleasures,
In a long letter back to me.

But while dwelling in lands of pleasure,
Think as you bask in their bright sunshine,
That while the ling'ring time I measure,
Sad and wintry hours are mine ;
Lonely by my taper weeping,
And watching the spark of promise to see ;
All for that bright spark my night-watch keeping,
For oh 'tis a letter love from thee !

To say that soon thy sail will be flowing,
Homeward to bear thee over the sea,
Calm be the waves and swift the wind blowing,
For oh ! thou art coming back to me.

THE LAST ROSE OF SUMMER.

Words by THOMAS MOORE.

'Tis the last rose of summer, Left bloom - ing a - lone; All her love-ly com - panions are fa - - - ded and gone. No flow'r - of her kindred, no - rose - bud is nigh, - - - To re - flect back her blushes, or - give - - - sigh for sigh.

I'll not leave thee, thou lone one,
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Go, sleep thou with them;
Thus kindly I scatter
Thy leaves on the bed,
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead.

So soon may I follow,
When friendships decay,
And from Love's shining circle
The gems drop away!
When true hearts lie wither'd,
And fond ones are flown,
Oh! who would inhabit
This bleak world alone?

No. 131 & 133 Notre Dame Street,
MONTREAL,

Have constantly on hand a well selected assortment of

THE BEST

NEW YORK AND BOSTON PIANO FORTES,

ALSO, THEIR OWN CELEBRATED

BOUDOIR OR PICCOLO PIANO FORTE,

So much admired at the World's Fair in 1851, and so favorably noticed by most of the London (and the whole of the London Correspondents of the Canadian) Press.

J. W. H. & Co.'s long experience in Canada, both as Importers and Manufacturers, gives them advantages in selecting Pianos in the United States, few others possess.

Tuning, Repairing, and Regulating

Executed with despatch in a superior manner.

IN SHEET MUSIC AND MUSICAL PUBLICATIONS,

They possess many advantages, having made arrangements with several large European Publishers for the early transmission of choice copies for the purpose of re-printing; also, for a weekly supply of every novelty, as soon as it appears in Europe or America.

THE HARP THAT ONCE THROUGH TARA'S HALLS.

Words by THOMAS MOORE.

The Harp that once, thro' Ta-ra's halls, The soul of Mu-sic shed, Now hangs as mute on Ta-ra's walls As if that soul were fled:— So sleeps the pride of former days, So glory's thrill is o'er; And hearts that once beat high for praise, Now feel that pulse no more!

No more to Chiefs and Ladies bright,
The harp of Tara swells,
The chord alone that breaks at night
Its tale of ruin tells,
Thus Freedom now so seldom wakes,
The only throb she gives,
Is when some heart indignant breaks
To show that still she lives.

ANNIE LAURIE.

Andante.

Max-well-ton braes are bonnie, Where ear-ly fa's the dew, And it's there that An-nie Lau-rie Gi'd me her promise true; Gi'd me her promise true, which ne'er for-got will be, And for bonnie An-nie Lau-rie, I'd lay me down and dee.

Her brow is like the snow-drift,
Her neck is like the swan,
Her face it is the fairest
That e'er the sun shone on;
That e'er the sun shone on,
And dark blue is her e'e;
And for bonnie Annie Laurie
I'd lay me down and dee.

Like dew on the gowan lying,
Is the fa' o' her fairy feet;
And like winds in summer sighing,
Her voice is low and sweet;
Her voice is low and sweet;
And she's a' the world to me;
And for bonnie Annie Laurie
I'd lay me down and dee.

MARY MAY.

With expression but not too slow.

E. L. HIME.

They have cho - sen the proud stran-ger, Be - cause a lord was he, Who could boast of wealth and riches, And a line of high de-gree, They have left me here to lan-guish, To fade and pine a - way, They have made the world a de - sert, Bereft of Ma - ry May, They have made the world a de - sert, Bereft of Ma - ry May.

When I met her in the valley,
And wandered by her side
She told me that she loved me
And vow'd to be my bride;
They have torn the tie asunder,
She now is far away,
They have left me broken hearted,
Bereft of Mary May.

She is happy with the stranger,
While I am left alone
There's naught remains to cheer me,
Since Mary May is gone
I'll seek some distant dwelling
And bear my grief away
You'll hear that I am dying
For thee my Mary May.

HARD TIMES COME AGAIN NO MORE.

Moderato.

Poetry and Music by S. C. FOSTER.

While we seek mirth and beauty and music light and gay There are

Let us pause in life's pleasures and count its many tears While we frail forms fainting at the door: Though their voi - ces are si - lent, their all sup sor-row with the poor: There's a song that will lin-ger for plead-ing looks will say: Oh! Hard Times come a-gain no more.

e - ver in our ears; Oh! Hard Times come a-gain no more.

Chorus.

'Tis the song, the sigh of the wea - ry;— Hard Times, Hard Times come a - gain no more! Ma - ny days you have lingered a - round my ca - bin door: Oh! Hard Times, come a-gain no more.

There's a pale drooping maiden who toils her life away

With a worn heart whose better days are o'er:

Though her voice would be merry, 'tis sighing all the day—

Oh! Hard Times, come again no more.

Chorus. 'Tis the song, &c.

'Tis a sigh that is wafted across the troubled wave,

'Tis a wail that is heard upon the shore,

'Tis a dirge that is murmured around the lowly grave,—

Oh! Hard Times, come again no more.

THY SMILE IS BEAMING THERE.

Poetry by W. J. CORBETT.

Music by R. J. HARVEY.

There's sun-shine love in yon-der bay, The waves are fill'd with light..... And leaps a - loft the sil-ver spray, In the red beams radiance bright..... There's sun-light on yon mountains crest Where the red heath bloometh fair, There's sun-light too with - in my breast Thy smile is beam-ing there... There's sun - light too with - in my breast, Thy smile is beam-ing there....

A change may come o'er yonder scene, Thy smile to other hearts may stray,
 For faithless is the smile, And mine be dark with care
 Of nature's wayward mood I ween, But still the sunshine of to day }
 And wilt thou change the while, Shall be remembered there. } B.c.

Forms departed rise before me,
Smiles long vanish'd greet again,
Eyes for ever seal'd beam over me.
Soothing once the sense of pain.
And with ev'ry thrilling number
Words of love gush on mine ear,
Voices sweet, that bound in slumber
Hush'd have been for many a year.
Sadly, sadly, well a day
Sadly, sadly, well a day
Requiem like in murmurs stealing
Comes that old familiar lay.

Like the winds in autumn sighing
Through the trembling alder tree
Or far surges' echo dying
Soft and low those voices flee;
And, as hues in twilight fading,
Swift those gentle forms decay;
Vainly, vainly, Hope upbraiding,
Bids them pass not all away.
Sadly, sadly, well a day
Sadly, sadly, well a day
Requiem like in murmurs stealing
Comes that old familiar lay.

Ghostlike thus they wane before me,
Quench'd their lustre fled their bloom,
While pale mem'ry, tearful o'er me
Flings the shadow of the tomb.
Sadly to mine heart appealing,
Sadly, sadly, well a day,
Requiem like, in murmurs stealing,
Comes that old familiar lay.

well to the strath and green val-leys be - low! Farewell to the for-ests and wild hanging woods! Farewell to the wa - ters and deep pour - ing floods! D.C.

Farewell to the Highlands! farewell to the North!
The birthplace of valor, the country of worth;
May thy hills still re-echo the deeds of the brave,
Thine liberty floats o'er each mountain and wave.
Dear land of my birth, thy clear purling streams
Recall moments past of my childhood's young dreams;
Wherever I wander, wherever I rove,
The hills and the Highlands forever I'll love.

THE OLD ARM CHAIR.

I LOVE it, I love it, and who shall dare
 To chide me for loving that Old Arm Chair;
 I've treasured it long as a holy prize,
 I've bedewed it with tears, and embalmed it with sighs,
 'Tis bound by a thousand bands to my heart,
 Not a tie will break, not a link will start;
 Would ye learn the spell? a mother sat there,
 And a sacred thing is that Old Arm Chair.
 I sat and watched her many a day,
 When her eye grew dim, and her locks were grey,
 And I almost worship'd her when she smiled,
 And turned from her Bible to bless her child;
 Years rolled on, but the last one sped,
 My idol was shattered, my earth star fled;
 I learn'd how much the heart can bear,
 When I saw her die in that Old Arm Chair.
 'Tis past! 'tis past! but I gaze on it now,
 With quiv'ring breath, and throbbing brow;
 'Twas there she nursed me, 'twas there she died,
 And memory flows with lava tide.
 Say it is folly, and deem me weak.
 While the scalding drops start down my cheek,
 But I love it, I love it, and cannot tear
 My soul from a mother's Old Arm Chair.

LADIES GAITER BOOTS.

---

A little glove stirs up my heart as tides stir up the ocean,
And snow white muslin, when it fits, wakes many a curious notion ;
All sorts of lady fixins thrill my feelings, as they'd orter,
But little female gaiter-boots are death, and nothing shorter !

And just to put you on your guard,
I'll give you, short and brief,
A small hotel experience,
Which filled my heart with grief :
Last summer at the St. Lawrence Hall,
I stopped a week or more,
And marked two " boot-ies " every morn
Before my neighbor's door :
Two boots with patent leather tips—
Two boots which seemed to say
" An angel trots around in us "
They stole my heart away :
And often in my nightly dreams
They swept before my face,
A lady growing out of them,
As flowers grow from a vase.
But, ah ! one morn I saw a sight
Which struck me like a stone,
Some other name was on the book ;
Those boots were not alone !
A great tall pair of other boots
Were standing by their side,
And off they walked that afternoon,
And with them walked—a bride.

Ladies, comment is unnecessary. Those Gaiter Boots came from

HER BRIGHT SMILE HAUNTS ME STILL.

Poetry by J. E. CARPENTER.

Music by W. T. WRIGHTON.

The musical score is written for a single voice in treble clef, with a key signature of three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat) and a 3/4 time signature. The melody is simple and sentimental, with a final cadence. The lyrics are printed below the notes, with some words hyphenated across lines.

'Tis years since last we met, And we may not meet a - gain; I have strug - gled to for - get, But the strug - gle was in vain; For her voice lives on the breeze, And her spirit comes at will; In the mid-night on the seas, Her bright smile haunts me still. For her voice lives on the breeze. And her spirit comes at will; In the mid-night, on the seas, Her bright smile haunts me still.

At the first sweet dawn of light,
When I gaze upon the deep,
Her form still greets my sight,
While the stars their vigils keep;
When I close mine aching eyes,
Sweet dreams my senses fill;
And from sleep when I arise,
Her bright smile haunts me still.
When I close mine aching eyes,
Sweet dreams my senses fill;
And from sleep when I arise,
Her bright smile haunts me still.

I have sail'd 'neath alien skies,
I have trod the desert path,
I have seen the storm arise,
Like a giant in his wrath;
Ev'ry danger I have known,
That a reckless life can fill;
Yet her presence is not flown
Her bright smile haunts me still.
Ev'ry danger I have known,
That a reckless life can fill;
Yet her presence is not flown,
Her bright smile haunts me still.

DEAR MOTHER I'LL COME HOME AGAIN.

Happy Hours, No. 4.

By C. MILLER.

Oh! mother dear I sigh in vain, To live my childhood o'er a - gain, And see thy clear love beaming eye. Out shineth stars up in the sky, Oh mother dear, bright sunny rays, That give such joy and heav'nly bliss, As by thy knee I used to pray, Or climb'd to steal af - fection's kiss. As by thy knee I used to pray, Or climb'd to steal af - fection's kiss.

Oh mother dear those early scenes,
The flow'ry fields and meadows green.
As thoughts come back I have a sigh,
And wish for happy days gone by;
Long since I left my native shore,
But now my heart beats just as then,
Tho' miles of sea between us roar,
Dear mother I'll come home again.
Tho' miles of sea between us roar,
Dear mother I'll come home again.

MY MOTHER'S VOICE.

Written by Mrs. HEMANS.

Composed by Miss J. BRAHAM.

My mother's voice is gone a-way, a-round our so-cial hearth, We have lost its tones that were so gay, so full of joy-ous mirth, And the wild brightsmile that lit her face and made our hearts re-joice;

Sadly we mourn each vanquished grace but most of all her voice.

We stood around her dying bed, we saw her dark eye close,
While from her lips the pulses fled and from her cheek the rose,
And still in fondness once she moved and once she stroved to speak
To the mournful beings that she loved, and yet she was too weak.

And oft since then her voice has come around my heart again,
And it seems to speak as from the tomb and bid me not complain.
And brighter hidden treasure forth that lie in mem'ry's store
And again to thoughts of that voice gives birth that voice, I hear no more.

THE HOME WHERE ROSES GREW.

Written and Composed by H. MILLARD.

O! low of-ten when at eve I'm sit-ting

Near the hearth stone where the hemlock burns,

Cherish'd forms I see be-fore me sit-ting,

And in fan-cy's dream my home re- turns;

Mem-ry fond de- lights to lin- ger e- ver,

Round the scenes that tender childhood knew, O! would that I had left thee ne-ver, Home! my dear old home where ro-ses grew.

Of my aged father comes before me,
 And my mother mourns her absent son,
 Now their parting blessings hover o'er me,
 As the flowers blossom one by one;
 Nothing from my heart those ties can sever
 Time hath prov'd all their affection true,
 O! would that I had left thee never,
 Home! my dear old home where roses grew.

May kind angels ever watch around them,
 Health and plenty, banish care and fear,
 All the joys of happy life surround them,
 Bless'd and honor'd be their dwelling here
 When the weary toil of life is over,
 And we calmly change the old for new,
 O! may we meet and find another
 Home, as dear as that where roses grew.

FAIRY BELLE.

Poetry and Music by STEPHEN C. FOSTER.

The pride of the vil - lage and the fair-est in the dell Is the queen of my song and her name is Fairy-Belle; The sound of her light step may be heard up - on the hill Like the fall of the snowdrop or the Chorus.
dripping of the rill. Fai - ry Belle, gen-tle Fai - ry Belle, The star of the night and the lily - of the day, Fai - ry Belle, The queen of all the dell, Long may she re - vel on her bright sun-ny way.

She sings to the meadows and she carols to the streams,
She laughs in the sunlight and smiles while in her dreams,
Her hair like the thistle down is borne upon the air,
And her heart like the humming bird's is free from ev'ry care.
Chorus.

Her soft notes of melody around me sweetly fall,
Her eye full of love is now beaming on my soul,
The sound of that gentle voice, the glance of that eye,
Surround me with rapture that no other heart could sigh.
Chorus.

I SEE HER STILL IN MY DREAMS.

Poetry and Music by STEPHEN C. FOSTER.

While the flow'rs bloom in glad-ness and spring birds rejoice There's a void in our household of one gen-tle voice. The form of a loved one hath passed from the light, But the sound of her foot fall returns with the night; For I see her still in my dreams, I see her still in my dreams, Though her smiles have de-parted from the meadows and the streams. I see her still in my dreams, - I see her still in my dreams, though her smiles have de-part-ed from the meadows and the streams.

Though her voice once familiar hath gone from the day
 And her smiles from the sunlight have faded away,
 Though I wake to a scene now deserted and bleak,
 In my visions I find the lost form that I seek;
 For I see her still in my dreams, I see her still in my dreams,
 Though her smiles have departed from the meadows and the streams.
 I see her still in my dreams, I see her still in my dreams,
 Though her smiles have departed from the meadows and the streams.

BOOK BINDING.

THE SUBSCRIBER, having engaged skilled and experienced workmen, and being provided with the latest improved and most extensive Machinery, is now prepared to execute BINDING in every variety of style and finish.

At the PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION held in Montreal in October, 1858, he was awarded the First Prize and Diploma for the best specimen of Bookbinding ;

First Prize for the best specimen of ordinary Bookbinding, suitable for Libraries ; and the First Prize for the best specimen of Blank Book Binding.

Some Specimens of Binding, from Mr. Lovell's, are the best we have seen in Canada ; and, so long as such work can be done here, there will be no occasion to send Books to New York or Boston in order to have superior binding.—Montreal Witness.

At the PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION, held at Kingston in September, 1859, he was awarded several Prizes for Bookbinding and for Printing.

Mr. John Lovell's display of Bookbinding was not only in the highest degree creditable to him, but to the whole Province. The Specimens shown were neat, substantial, in good taste, and of first class workmanship. His energy deserves success.—Montreal Gazette.

The Specimens of Bookbinding, plain and ornamental, and the letter-press specimens of Mr. John Lovell were highly praised, and every one was struck with the perfection to which this gentleman has brought these branches of his art.—Montreal Herald.

Mr. John Lovell, of Montreal, has on view a case of books in every style of binding. The specimens exhibited will bear the closest scrutiny. The style of workmanship in the ornamental and library styles of binding reflect the highest credit on Mr. Lovell's enterprise. His Account books are equal to any of the same kind we have ever seen.—Kingston News.

Mr. John Lovell, of Montreal, exhibited some splendid Specimens of letter-press printing, and of Bookbinding—the bookbinding was principally on works of his own publication, and attracted the admiration of every one.—New Era, Milton, C. W.

Orders for all kinds of BOOKBINDING respectfully solicited.

Montreal, June, 1860.

Printer and Bookbinder.

THERE'S SOMEBODY WAITING FOR ME.

Words by J. E. CARPENTER.

Music by C. W. GLOVER.

The moon's shining bright, and the stars give their light, And the evening invites us to stray, But in vain do I talk of a bright moonlight walk, I am here, and I cant get a - way; I'm a Bird in a cage, and they say "at my age" that "their wonder is what I can see . In a walk in the cold tho' the truth must be told That there's somebody waiting for me. There's some-bo - dy waiting, There's some-bo - dy waiting. There's some - bo - dy wait-ing for me.

They ask me to sing, and my music they bring,

" 'Tis meet me by moonlight " again

And its getting quite late, and I know he wont wait,

And he'll go if it comes on to rain;

And now they propose all the shutters to close,

As a form in the moonlight I see.

But before they're aware I'll steal down the back stair

For there's somebody waiting for me. &c.

THE
OTTAWA HOTEL.
Great St. James Street,
MONTREAL.

The Proprietor of this well known Hotel takes this opportunity of announcing to travellers, that extensive alterations and improvements having recently been made throughout the house, he is now prepared to accommodate, comfortably, as large a number of visitors as any other first class Hotel in the City.

Situated on the most Fashionable Street in the City, within a minute's walk of the French Parish Church, contiguous to the various Banks, in sight of the Beautiful Mountain, a short distance from the Victoria Bridge, the Champ-de-Mars, and other prominent places of interest or business, this house is admitted, by all its patrons, to be the most desirable in Montreal.

Carriages, with careful and intelligent drivers, may be procured on application at the Office.

Omnibuses and Porters are in attendance at Railroad Depots and Steamboat Landings.

Particular attention is directed to the fact that the Proprietor of the Ottawa Hotel utterly discards the employment of RUNNERS, being satisfied to allow the success of his House to depend upon its own merits.

MEAL HOURS.

Breakfast from Seven to Nine o'clock.

Dinner from One to Three o'clock.

Tea from Six to Nine o'clock.

ROOMS MAY BE SECURED BY TELEGRAPH.

THE MEETING OF THE WATERS.

Words by THOMAS MOORE.

There is not in the wide world a val-ley so sweet As that vale in whose bo-som the bright wa-ters meet, Oh! the last rays of feel-ing and life must de-part, Ere the bloom of that val-ley shall fade from my heart, Ere the bloom of that val-ley shall fade from my heart.

Yet it was not that Nature had shed o'er the scene
Her purest of crystal and brightest of green ;
'Twas not the soft magic of stream-let or hill ;
Oh! no— it was something more exquisite still :— (bis).

'Twas that friends, the belov'd of my bosom, were near,
Who made ev'ry dear scene of enchantment more dear ;
And who felt how the best charms of Nature improve
When we see them reflected from looks that we love. (bis.)

Sweet vale of Avoca! how calm could I rest
In thy bosom of shade, with the friends I love best,
Where the storms which we feel in this cold world would cease,
And our hearts, like thy waters, be mingled in peace! (bis.)
